PALMA MAY RESIGN

PRESIDENT OF CUBA MAY DECIDE TO RETIRE IN THE INTERESTS OF PEACE.

ANXIOUS TO CEASE FIGHTING

BOTH SIDES APPEAR DESIROUS OF ENDING WAR WITHOUT MORE BLOODSHED.

Havana, Sept. 7.—While the peace projects have caused a general suspension of revolutionary operations no appreciable programme towards anything like a satisfactory understanding has been made. The Liberal leaders insist it is unjust to regard them as insurgents and assert they are merely seeking for peace, at the same time declaring that not only must the terms of peace be better than heretofore talked of but there must be some unquestionable guarantee that the conditions will be carried out to the letter. The Moderates meanwhile continue in a waiting attitude.

General Menocal was busy throughout the day receiving callers, mostly Moderates and veterans, and holding conferences. He said at night he had no reason to be disappointed with the progress the negotiations are making and that the semi-official suspension of hostilities, which began Thursday in Santa Clara and Havana provinces, would be extended to Pinar del Rio, giving the veterans a chance to get among their comrades and others in the field and push negotiations for peace. General Menocal appears not to be discouraged by the attitude of the Liberals.

The demands that come from the insurgents themselves as the price of a cessation of rebellion are regarded in the capital for the most part as not to be considered. These demands include the restoration of deserters from the rural guards to their former positions, the reinstatement of Liberals who last year were deposed from municipal offices, the retention of their arms by the insurgents and other equally radical propositions.

Hope to Force Palma to Resign.

The Liberals have not yet relinquished the hope that they may be able to force the resignation of President Palma and all the high government officials. The succession of Vice President Mendez Capote to the presidency is also discussed, the Liberals seeming to think they could reach an understanding with him that would be satisfactory to all. There is nothing to indicate in any of the recent developments that Mendez Capote is a party to this project and the reintroduction of his name in this connection serves only to complicate the discussions.

The talk concerning Vice President Mendez Capote's succession to the presidency as one of the wars of setting the trouble is persistent. Asked by the Associated Press about these and other points of the negotiations, General Menocal said:

"We have not got that far, but I can positively assure you that thus far things are going satisfactorily. The Liberals wish for peace is the same as ours, so we are all hopeful of accomplishing it; but we have not yet taken up the details."

General Menocal said that commissioners had returned from a visit to Pino Guerra and reported that he was favorable to a cessation of all hostilities pending the negotiations. The general said he hoped to meet all elements and begin more definite negotiations looking to peace.

Visited Vice President Capote.

After the conference General Menocal and intimate friends of Mendez Capote visited the vice president. The proposition with regard to Vice President Capote assuming the presidency came from the Liberals and insurgents with such unanimity that the committee decided to consider the matter. If President Palma signifies his willingness to resign in the interest of peace this may be the outcome. However, all this is tentative as yet, and has only been discussed in secret.

Many business men of Havana ridicule the whole effort for what they call a patched up peace, which they allege can be no more than temporary; and some go so far as to assert that the country never can be governed rightly or investments be absolutely safeguarded unless the United States intervenes. This is frankly stated in some cases, also by high government officials, and brings the retort that those who make such statements are not good Cubans.

Despite all drawbacks, however, the fact that peace proposals are pending and that hostilities have been suspended has brought more or less hopefulness to the people of Havana.

Captains Figueroa and Delgado report a fight in the hills south of Santiago de las Vegas, in which four of the rural guards were killed. Pools of blood all over the battleground indicate that many of the insurgents were wounded, but no bodies were found.

Official reports of the fight at Canasi Sept. 4 state that three rural guards were killed and that one rebel was fatally wounded.

ANXIOUS TO RETURN

BANKER STENSLAND WILLING TO WAIVE ALL FORMALITIES AND COME BACK.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Late Thursday Assistant State's Attorney Barbour received a message from Assistant State's Attorney Olson at Tangier requesting that the authorities at Washington permit Stensland to return without waiting for the arrival of legal documents. The prisoner was said to be willing and anxious to return at once to Chicago.

A telegram from Binns, in Washington, Thursday night, to Assistant State's Attorney Barbour, stated that President Roosevelt had cabled a warrant to the American minister at Tangier requesting him to surrender Stensland. Word was also telegraphed that the state department had arranged to have an American-bound passenger liner touching at Gibraltar stop at Tangier and take on board the prisoner and his captors.

AERONAUT IN GRAVE PERIL.

Afloat in the Clouds With His Airship Beyond Control.

Oconto, Wis., Sept. 7.—Somewhere high above Wisconsin soil a human life is being tossed to and fro, the plaything of the winds. Either this or a tragedy begun here Thursday already has been completed by a hopeless struggle for life in the rolling waves of Lake Michigan. William Matteray, an aeronaut, is the victim, and when last seen he was far above the earth, while a horrified crowd, numbering several thousand, gazed after him in helpless terror.

The propeller shaft had been broken and was improperly repaired and when Matteray ascended at the fair here he was unable to control the airship and when last seen was drifting toward Lake Michigan.

Twelve Persons Drowned.

Bucharest, Sept. 7.—During the combined land and sea maneuvers at Constantza Thursday a battalion of soldiers, members of a battalion of chasseurs, was capsized while being towed by a torpedo boat. Eleven privates and one officer were drowned.

Ballooning Killed.

Oskaloosa, Kan., Sept. 7.—Jerry Turner, an experienced balloonist, fell 200 feet from a trapeze suspended from a parachute at a fair here Thursday and was instantly killed. His strength became exhausted and he fell head downward.

APPOINTS EXAMINERS

BANK COMMISSIONER INTENDS TO PLACE RESPONSIBILITY FOR BIG FAILURE.

APPEAR TO HAVE BEEN FALSE

REPORTS FILED BY HIPPLE'S COMPANY WITH STATE BANKING DEPARTMENT.

Philadelphia, Sept. 7.—To determine the responsibility of the directors of the wrecked Real Estate Trust company, State Banking Commissioner Berkey came here Thursday and appointed as special bank examiners Charles M. Vollum and Meyer Goldsmith, expert registered accountants, who with the consent of Receiver Earle will begin a thorough examination of the defunct concern.

Receiver Earle has issued a statement announcing that he hopes soon to reopen the doors of the bank and that all depositors will be protected. Mr. Earle says the directors have responded to his solicitations to help reorganize the company but did not state what amount of money they have guaranteed. In order to successfully accomplish the rehabilitation of the company the receiver says the creditors must meet his efforts in the same spirit in which they were received by the directors.

The preliminary hearing of Adolph Segal, the promoter, William F. North, treasurer, and Marshall S. Collingwood, assistant treasurer of the Real Estate Trust company, took place Thursday and the three were held in heavy bail for trial.

Resulted in Daily Sensations.

These were the most important developments Thursday in the affairs of the Real Estate Trust company, the collapse of which and the suicide of its president, Frank K. Hipple, have resulted in daily sensations for more than a week.

Bank Commissioner Berkey states the examination should not occupy more than four or five days. The law gives the examiners the right to interrogate under oath any director, officer or employee of the trust company or of any other company holding assets of the defunct concern. During the past few years, Mr. Berkey declared, practically every director of the Real Estate Trust company had certified to the correctness of the reports filed by the company with the state banking department. These reports, he said, appear to have been false. If his examination sustains the falsity of the reports, Mr. Berkey declared, he would proceed against the directors and make an issue of their responsibility, which has never been decided by the courts of this state.

The evidence presented through witnesses by District Attorney Bell at the hearing of Segal, North and Collingwood, disclosed the methods by which Segal and Hipple wrecked the trust company. The most damaging testimony was that to the effect that both Hipple and Segal had repeatedly overdrawn their accounts with the knowledge of the treasurer and assistant treasurer. There was on deposit in the bank approximately $7,000,000 and the loans made to Segal amounted to $5,300,000.

LAKE STEAMERS COLLIDE.

One of Them Sinks and Two Lives Are Lost.

Detroit, Sept. 7.—The Western liner Milwaukee collided with the steamer Nelson Mills in the St. Clair river a short distance below St. Clair Thursday afternoon. The Mills sank at once.

James Barbour of Port Sanilac, wheelman on the Mills, and Mrs. T. J. Moore, wife of the engineer on the Mills, were drowned and a second wheelman is reported missing. The Milwaukee was downbound and the Mills was proceeding up the river.

Milwaukee Man Shot Dead.

Milwaukee, Sept. 7.—Frank Thompson, aged twenty-eight years, a metal worker for the Wisconsin Bridge and Iron company, was shot and instantly killed by John Pollock in the latter's room Thursday night. Pollock asserted at the police station that the shooting was done in self-defense.

Served on the Alabama.

London, Sept. 7.—Captain John Low, who served on board the Confederate cruiser Alabama when that vessel was preying on the commerce of the United States during the war of secession, died Thursday in Liverpool.

GOVERNMENT FORCE ROUTED.

Many Killed in a Battle With Insurgents.

Cienfuegos, Sept. 7.—A detachment of fifty government troops from this city Thursday encountered a band of General Guzman's insurgents near Camarones. In the fight which ensued the government force was routed, many being killed or wounded. There is great excitement in Cienfuegos.

Havana, Sept. 7.—The government's report of Thursday's fight in Santa Clara province says that Colonel Valles' troops pursued thirty men who had risen near Palmira. After the insurgents had been reinforced by others a fight ensued in which the insurgents were repulsed and retreated to Tartabul, where they camped. There they were attacked by Captain Mayato and several of the insurgents were killed or wounded. The insurgents left several of their dead on the field. Of the rural guards two were wounded.

IRRIGATION CONGRESS CLOSED.

Report Favoring $100,000,000 for Irrigation Turned Down.

Boise, Ida., Sept. 7.—The fourteenth national irrigation congress closed its sessions Thursday night after voting to hold the next congress at Sacramento, Cal., and electing as president Governor George Chamberlain of Oregon.

There was some evidence of discord in connection with the election of secretary. D. H. Anderson, a Chicago publisher, was the choice of the nominating committee. His published utterances in criticism of the federal reclamation service were urged against him, but the convention endorsed the nomination.

The shouters of "a hundred millions more for irrigation" came before the congress with a minority report from the committee on resolutions demanding that the national congress authorize a bond issue to raise such a fund. After a spirited debate the report was voted down.

In opposing the minority report, Congressman Reeder of Kansas said the Eastern congressmen would resent it. He said they had little faith in the success of the reclamation law now being put on trial. In this connection he quoted Speaker Joseph G. Cannon as having said, ten minutes after the passage of the reclamation act: "Reeder, that's the biggest and the slickest steal I have seen since I have been in congress."

Senator Dubois of Idaho stated that but for the personal efforts of President Roosevelt the reclamation act could not have been passed.

ROOSEVELT MIGHT HOLD OFFICE.

Speaker Cannon Says He Might Be Chief Executive Until 1912.

Rockland, Me., Sept. 7.—"Stranger things might happen than Roosevelt's being president until 1912," said Speaker Joseph G. Cannon here in the course of a speech advocating the re-election of Representative Littlefield. The statement was made after Mr. Cannon had discussed the recent utterances of W. J. Bryan.

Speaker Cannon had a severe chill while on his way here by train from Lewiston and kept to his bed at a local hotel after his arrival until early in the evening, but he recovered sufficiently to fulfill his engagement at the Republican rally at night and made a vigorous speech in advocacy of Representative Littlefield. When Mr. Cannon left the hall at the conclusion of his speech he exhibited signs of weakness, but expressed the belief that a night's rest would restore his normal condition.

This is Mr. Littlefield's home city and Mr. Cannon's audience cheered his reference to Mr. Littlefield loudly. At the opening of his address Speaker Cannon took up a question which had been handed to him by a representative of a local newspaper asking why he had "batted in" in the Maine campaign. Mr. Cannon said he had "batted in" because he was interested in the welfare of Congressman Littlefield, whose re-election as an advocate of protection was of as much interest to the people of Illinois as to those of Maine.

AMADOR MAY RETIRE.

President of Panama Likely to Resign From Office.

Panama, Sept. 7.—The national assembly Thursday elected J. D. Obaldia, first vice president of the Republic; Frederico Boyd, second vice president, and Rafael Aizpuru, third vice president.

The election of vice presidents is a matter of exceptional importance because of the persistent rumor that President Amador wishes to retire and that he will do so after President Roosevelt's approaching visit to Panama, provided the selections of the national assembly meet with his approval.

Costly Incendiary Fire.

Chillicothe, O., Sept. 7.—Fire, supposed to have been of incendiary origin, destroyed an entire square of buildings at Leisburg, O., fifteen miles south of this city. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

H. F. MICHAEL Co.

GILLETT NOMINATED.

Choice of Republican Convention for Governor of California.

Santa Cruz, Cal., Sept. 7.—Congressman James N. Gillett of Eureka was nominated for governor Thursday by the Republican convention on the first ballot, receiving 591 1/2 votes to 223 1/2 votes for the present governor, George C. Pardee.

H. C. Sloes was unanimously named for the unexpired term of assistant justice.

Judge F. W. Henshaw and Judge William G. Lorigan were nominated for assistant justices of the supreme court.

The platform adopted by the convention reaffirms allegiance to the policies of the Republican party as set forth in the national platform of 1904. The work of the last congress is highly commended, especially the enactment of the railroad rate bill and the efforts made to punish trust organizations which have evaded their obligations.

The enactment by congress of an amendment to the existing tariff law as a measure of relief in San Francisco, that for a period of three years all building material may be admitted into the port of San Francisco free of all duty is favored.

A direct primary law providing for the nomination of public officers by the people is favored.

James N. Gillett, the 'nominee' for governor, was born in Viroqua, Wis., Sept. 20, 1860.

BRYAN TAKES A REST.

Enjoying Quietude of Home After a Strenuous Week.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 7.—After the strenuous week since their arrival at New York, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bryan Thursday enjoyed the quiet at their Fairview home. Mr. Bryan said that for himself and Mrs. Bryan he wanted to thank the people of the country and especially of his home state and city for the wholehearted and kindly way in which he had been received. The reception at Lincoln Wednesday night, he said, was a revelation, and touched his heart. The crowd, he believed, was the largest he ever addressed. Mr. Bryan will make a short address today at the state fair grounds and in the evening will talk to his neighbors at Fairview.

Mr. Bryan leaves Sept. 16 for a tour of nearly twenty days in the South Central and Southeastern states. He will be home about Oct. 1.

Campaign Against Littlefield.

Lewiston, Me., Sept. 7.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor resumed his campaign against Representative Charles A. Littlefield Thursday night. He declared that the report that the members of the American Federation of Labor had been assessed to carry on the campaign against Mr. Littlefield was false.

FOR THE ROOSEVELT CUP.

The Vim Wins the Third Race of the Series.

Martinehead, Mass., Sept. 7.—Thursday's race, the third of the series between German and American yachts for the Roosevelt cup, was won by Vim, owned by Commodore Park of the American Yacht club of New York. The Vim was the winner of Wednesday's race, the second of the series. The victory of the New York boat was made certain a mile and a half from the finish by the withdrawal of the Ank, owned by Charles Francis Adams of Boston, and the winner of the first race of the series. The Ank withdrew because she fouled the Vim. The action of her owner was generally hailed as a most conspicuous sportsmanlike act. The withdrawal obviated the usual contest over a protest.

The Tilly VI (German) was the second boat to finish, but a protest was entered against her by the Wamssee (German) because of a foul which it was alleged took place on the line as the boats started. The Caramba (American) was the third boat across the line, followed by the Wamssee and the German yacht Gluckauf in the order named.

WINS NATIONAL TEAM MATCH.

Regular Army Infantry Team Gets First Prize at Seagirt.

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 7.—The national team match, which was started on Tuesday and finished late Thursday, was won by the team representing the Infantry of the United States army. The first prize consists of the national trophy, provided by congress, $300 in cash and medals for the team members. Second prize, the Hilton trophy, $200 and medals, was won by the team of the United States cavalry; third, the bronze soldier of Marathon, $130 and medals, by Massachusetts; fourth, $100 and medals, by New York; fifth, $75 and medals, by the United States navy; sixth, $50 and medals, by the United States marine corps.

The order of other leading competitors follows: Wisconsin 9, Washington 10, Minnesota 11, Michigan 15, Iowa 18, Montana 23, Nebraska 29.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

The attendance at the Minnesota state fair Thursday was about 49,000.

Secretary Bonaparte has returned to the navy department after an absence of three weeks.

The recommendations of the simplified spelling board are likely to receive official recognition in the Boston public schools.

A new banking institution, which will be entitled the Amerika bank, is about to be organized in Berlin with a capital of $6,250,000.

A cablegram received at Washington from Secretary Root stated that he would arrive at Panama on the Charleston on Sept. 16 and would cross immediately to Colon.

Epilepsy Fits St. Vitus Dance

Are nerve diseases, and unless checked, lead to destruction of both mind and body. The weak, shattered nerves must have something to strengthen and build them back to health. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve is a remarkable nerve tonic and stimulant. It strengthens the nerves, relieves the nervous strain, and influences refreshing body-sleep and rest. Persistent use seldom fails to relieve these afflictions.

"I was taken with epileptic fits; had eleven in less than 12 hours. My father sent for my family physician, but he could do very little for me, and I grew worse every day, and at last they had three doctors with me, and I still got worse. My father heard of Dr. Miles' medicines and bought a bottle of Nerve and a box of Nerve and Liver Pills. I had taken only a few doses until I began to feel better. I took 12 bottles, and it cured me sound and well. It has been worth all the world to me. I recommend it wherever I go. You may use this as a life-long testimonial to the merits of your medicine, for I am enjoying the best of health, and feel that my life and health is due to this wonderful medicine." LEVY WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 2, Boston, Ga.

Dr. Miles' Nerve is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

BERT MILLER says in the Rock County Herald that Cole's speech expresses the deepest conviction of an earnest, honest people, and courageous men who stand squarely and act fearlessly. Every farmer, every business man every other citizen interested in the prosperity of the state and the development of its vast resources should read and study it carefully. It shows what manner of man the people want for governor.

DEEDS THE TRUE MEASURE

Alexandria Citizen: Results, not promises, determine the fitness of a public servant. Congressman Buckmah was an invaluable aid to Senator Nelson in securing for Alexandria a $30,000 federal postoffice building; in securing a public building site for Brainerd; in securing the installation of 194 rural free delivery routes in this district. He secured pensions for 200 veterans, widows and orphans and over $150,000 per year in salaries for residents of the district. Roosevelt once said: "Deeds are the correct and only true measure in the public service," and this truism will apply to Buckmah's record during the past two years.

FROM THE STATE CAPITAL

As an indication of activity on the part of the Republican state central committee it can be stated that Mr. Boobar of St. Cloud, who is now connected with the congressional library at Washington, has been placed in charge of the speakers' campaign for the coming election. He has been at work for weeks from his Washington viewpoint arranging for speakers to visit Minnesota at the opportune time. He is now in St. Paul and the committee has supplied him with a suite of rooms adjacent to their own, where the speaking portion of the campaign will be planned and directed. Beginning about Oct. 1 there will be a campaign of oratorical effort sprung upon Minnesota in behalf of the Republican ticket such as the state has never seen before.

As the primary meetings are not to be held until Sept. 18 it seems impossible to inaugurate the oratory effectively until about Oct. 1. The congressional, legislative and local tickets will then all be in the field and the orators can spring forth under Mr. Boobar's direction like Jove fully panoplied for the fray and the campaign managers will then be ready to exclaim: "Lay on, Macduff, and damn'd be he who first cries hold; enough!"

Any one who thinks we are not to have an active and winning Republican campaign this fall should visit the Republican headquarters in the Globe building at St. Paul and get introduced to the committee.

There is, perhaps, no one conspicuous subject in the state which is so imperfectly understood as the subject of drainage. The popular impression is that the taxpayers are taxed to drain the swamp lands for the sole benefit of the locality where the lands lie. As well informed a man as Governor Johnson said when he was running for the state senate that his county (Nicollet) had paid for its ditches and now let the northern counties pay for their own. Governor Johnson probably views the matter in a different light now because his official duties have caused him to investigate and he is better informed.

The plain facts are these: Congress gave the state of Minnesota 5,000,000 acres of swamp lands on condition that the state attended to their drainage. The state gave away many of these lands to railroads on the theory that the railroads would reclaim them for their own interests. This was largely done. In addition the state set apart 100,000 acres for the insane asylum at St. Peter, Nicollet county. Governor Johnson's home county. The state also gave a similar amount to the deaf and dumb asylum at Fairbault and the state prison at Stillwater. It also gave 75,000 acres each to the normal schools at Winona, Mankato and St. Cloud. When the 5,000,000 gift by congress had been thus depleted for railroads and public institutions there was a constitutional amendment adopted forbidding the legislature from giving any more swamp lands away, leaving the state to actually drain the rest—1,500,000 acres. Confronted with this great heritage the state inaugurated a drainage system, providing that the lands should be actually drained and sold like school lands at not less than $5 per acre. The realization from these sales was ordered by law to go one-half to the common school fund and one-half to the public institutions of the state. From 1891 to 1904 these sales produced a revenue of $295,372.44, or an average of $6.43 per acre. As it cost on an average $1 per acre to drain the lands the state had a profit of $5.43 per acre, which went in equal shares to the public schools and the state institutions. As the average price obtained during the same period for school lands was only $6.26 per acre it shows that the state had a pretty good bargain by its drainage work.

The consequence is every voter who sends a child to a public school and every town which has a state institution gets the benefit of drainage. As most of the public institutions in the state are in Central or Southern Minnesota it is unjust and the sheerest nonsense to claim that the southern part of the state is taxed to reclaim the swamp lands in Northern Minnesota. All that Northern Minnesota gets is the adding of more agricultural lands for the market, increasing the population and production of the state, and of course in this manner increasing the value of other acres in the region drained. But this increase is not obtained at the expense of any other part of the state. Comparatively few people in the state really understand that the drainage of swamp lands is not a tax and burden upon the people but an actual profit for the whole population of the state.

When drainage first began there were undoubtedly mistakes made and occasionally some private or even railroad property would be inadvertently drained. When Mr. Cole, the candidate for governor, entered the legislature he saw this mistake and framed a bill which became a law directing the drainage board to employ a competent engineer and have surveys and plats made so that hereafter the board could act more intelligently and when drainage ditches were ordered have them apply only to lands which belong to the state and would bring them into market as state lands, securing an average profit as already noted of $5.43 per acre. This one act shows the keenness and foresight of Mr. Cole in the care of the public interest and shows the practical side of his plea for "state development."

FIRED BY TERRORISTS

ENTIRE VILLAGE OF POWSIN, IN RUSSIAN POLAND, IS NOW WRAPPED IN FLAMES.

PROPOSED RUSSIAN REFORMS

REPORTED TO BE DUE TO THE INFLUENCE OF THE DOWAGER EMPRESS MARIE.

Powsin, Russian Poland, Sept. 7.—Terrorists, angered at the refusal of their demands, Thursday fired a small village near here. The whole village is now in flames.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 7.—The proposed reforms outlined in the official communication published in St. Petersburg Wednesday night are due to the influence of the dowager empress, Marie, who at first counseled Emperor Nicholas not to take such steps as the terrorists might interpret them as a concession and consequently become bolder. She subsequently changed her view and convinced the emperor that it would be better to promulgate the reforms now than to leave them to be fathomed by the next parliament.

It is understood that General Pavloff drew up that part of the official communication which relates to the trial of political crimes by court-martial.

The Novoe Vremya and other papers present gloomy pictures of the financial situation in all the provinces, stating that the zemstvo's sphere of utility has been reduced to the minimum owing to the depletion of their treasures, the peasants and small proprietors paying their taxes neither in money nor in kind, and that the larger land owners also are becoming recalcitrant.

At a meeting of Social Democratic and Social Revolutionist university students it was decided not to oppose the re-opening of the universities, which is scheduled for October 14, thereby furnishing a strong possibility that the paralysis of the educational life of the country which has lasted for two school years soon may be ended.

At Stopiney, Russian Poland, revolutionists attacked the prison with the purpose of liberating two political agitators who were confined there. A pitched battle followed and after several rushes the attacking party gave up the attempt and withdrew, carrying off several wounded comrades.

To Execute Revolutionists.

Warsaw, Sept. 7.—Much excitement has been caused here by the announcement in newspaper extras that an order has been given to try to execute revolutionists who might be caught red-handed.

BY A FALLING FLOOR.

Three Men Killed and a Dozen Badly Hurt in Collapse of Building.

Elyria, O., Sept. 7.—Three men were killed and a dozen seriously injured by the falling of the second floor of the new factory building of the Garford company, under construction here.

Sixteen workmen on the first floor of the building were caught beneath the fall of heavy tile, brick and steel beams of the wrecked floor. The dead and injured are Hungarians, who were doing the heavy work about the construction of the building. The injured were removed to a hospital as fast as taken from the ruins. All the ambulances and doctors in the city were called to the relief of the injured. Those rescued from the ruins are said to be in a very critical condition.

The accident happened while twenty-seven men were at work removing the false structure used to hold the concrete pillars of the new building in place. The false work, it is said, was removed too soon, the concrete not yet having hardened sufficiently to sustain the weight of the structure.

RELIEVED FROM SERVICE.

Bishop McCabe No Longer a Member of Policyholders' Committee.

New York, Sept. 7.—At the meeting of the international policyholders' committee at the Waldorf-Astoria Thursday, at which Richard Olney presided, and at which almost the full membership was present, the letter recently written by Bishop McCabe to Alton B. Parker was discussed and resolutions were adopted relieving the bishop from further service on the committee. The proceedings were held behind closed doors.

It was stated that the committee had agreed upon the directors of the New York Life as well as those of the Mutual, but no names were to be made public until the tickets are filed with the superintendent of insurance on Sept. 18. The executive committee will meet frequently during the interim until the balloting begins on Oct. 18.

KILLS CATARRHAL GERMS.

Hyomei's Healing Air Reaches Every Part of Nose, Throat and Lungs.

Hyomei is the only scientific and thorough way to cure catarrh. Stomach dosing does not reach the catarrhal germs in the air passages and cannot possibly drive them from the system. By breathing air medicated with Hyomei the germs in the nose, throat and lungs are killed and all traces of catarrhal poison are effectually driven out.

Some people may think that Hyomei is simply for catarrh of the head and throat, but it is equally effective in catarrh of the stomach, liver or kidneys. The catarrhal germs are in the mucous membrane and Hyomei not only kills the germs in the air passages, but enters the blood with the oxygen, thus killing the germs in the blood and freeing the whole system from catarrh.

Hyomei is sold by H. P. Dunn & Co. under an absolute guarantee to refund the money unless it cures. A complete outfit costs but $1.00, extra bottles 50c.

A guarantee like this is stronger proof of merit than any claim that can be made in an advertisement. H. P. Dunn & Co. would not give their personal guarantee in this manner unless they had perfect confidence in the value of Hyomei.

Arm, Home and Garden.

Short, pointed statements of methods and results in Crow Wing county are requested for this column. Address all communications to Farm Editor, Box 1349, Brainerd, Minn.

Have you made any attempt to know which of your dairy cows is paying you, and which are only star boarders? It will pay you to make a test and find out. Feed is too high here to waste on cows that do not convert it into butter fat.

Crow Wing county is not raising the number of hogs that it should. "Money blossoms," as they are sometimes called, have raised more mortgages than any other class of farm produce and they have raised many a mortgagee because of a disastrous season of feeding beef cattle. No thorough feeder in the corn belt will think of fattening a bunch of cattle without running a drove of hogs behind it. He figures that if he gains on the steers pays for the feed, the hogs will give a good profit. This is one reason why feeding fat stock has not been a success here. There has been little or no attempt made to have hogs to eat up the waste.

It is doubtless true that the market for hogs has been uncertain here, but with the rapidly increasing number of farmers and the enlarged amount of cleared land this county ought to be able to furnish enough hogs so that they could be shipped in car lots, and when they are, there will be dealers ready to buy them. This is largely true of other produce. If it were possible to form some sort of an association of producers, not to hold their stock, but to market it, it would help matters. If there could be an arrangement made by which some one or more farmers would know where and in what quantities hogs or other produce could be bought, then buyers could be induced to take the matter of handling them up in earnest. If a buyer has got to put in $30 to $50 in time and expenses in hunting up hogs and then perhaps get less than a carload he can not pay the price he would be able to if he could gather a load in one or two days drive as he can in the corn belt. Then again, he cannot take hogs and keep them till he gets a car as he does there. He might be 30 days in getting in 60 hogs, and feeding in town, on produce hauled in, is always expensive.

It was the hope of the Commercial club that the market days would form this medium between the buyer and the seller, and they have time and again got outside buyers to attend. But in no instance has there been even a half a carload of hogs and seldom a full car of cattle on the market. The result has been that outsiders could not buy as they had no place or facilities for keeping the stuff, nor any opportunity for buying more to complete the carloads. So everything was left to the local buyer, who could, at heavy expense, hold the stuff bought until he could scour the country and fill his car. Not a single outside buyer has come back for the second market day. "We will come if the stuff is there to buy," say they all. The more cattle and hogs on a market like Brainerd the closer the margin on which they can be handled.

It is not entirely lack of stock, to judge from complaints of farmers, that they cannot sell their stock after it is raised, but largely failure to get them on the market in bunches large enough at one time so that the shipper can handle them, that is queering stock buying here.

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold
A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed to only aggravate my case. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar in the yellow package, and it quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success. H. P. Dunn & Co. eoddw

JOHN BERG WAS STRUCK BY ENGINE

Either Lay Down or Fell on Track
Of Cross Lake Road
Yesterday

SAID TO BE FROM HERE

Body Brought Here by Team Last Night—Was Terribly Mangled
led by the Engine

A man named John Berg, said to be from Brainerd, was killed by a train on the Cross Lake logging road about six o'clock last night, near Longville. The man had laid off at noon and drew his money and went to a saloon about five miles from camp. About five o'clock he left the saloon badly under the influence of liquor and with a couple of bottles of the stuff in his pocket. About six o'clock he was discovered by the engineer of a logging train lying between the rails. It is on a curve and the engine was close on the body before it was discovered. The engineer whistled but the man did not stir. It was impossible to stop the train but there was no sign of life or motion when the engine struck the body. The remains were terribly mangled and death must have been instantaneous even if he was not already dead.

Inquiry in this city shows that the deceased formerly lived in Brainerd. He was about 35 years of age and was single. For several years he was employed as a carpenter in the car shops and is reported to have been a good workman. For the past year he has been working as a lumber jack for the Cross Lake people. He was a member of both the Sons of Norway and the Independent Scandinavian Association, and had insurance in both orders at one time, but whether or not it had been allowed to lapse is not known. So far as can be learned he had no relatives in this county, though it is believed by some that he has a couple of uncles in Wisconsin. The remains are at the undertaking rooms of D. M. Clark & Co., and no arrangements have been made as to the funeral.

MONDAY MORNING.

Is It a Bad Time to Approach a Man on Business?

"Come in and see me Monday morning and we'll talk it over," said Gassaway, but Blinks replied:

"Couldn't you make it Tuesday morning or Monday afternoon?"

So it was arranged for Tuesday morning. Blinks turned from the telephone to a man with a smile, saying:

"I'm glad he didn't make it Monday morning. We would never come to a conclusion then. You see," he continued, noting my surprise at such a statement, "Monday morning is the morning after Sunday. Never approach a man on business on Monday morning."

"I can't explain why it is, but every man goes to his office on Monday morning with a groan. I suppose it's because he's been resting up all day Sunday and sort of hates to tear himself away from it. Anyway, I know it is so."

"Take your own case. I've known you many years, and whenever you meet me Monday morning I notice that you are yawning, taciturn and unsmiling. You had a good Sunday no doubt. Either you rested to beat the band or played golf or did something. Anyway, that took your mind off your business cares. Then you went to bed rather early, all prepared to get up early Monday. When the clock went off you were miserable about rising, and when you did get up you were ugly to everybody. It's the same way with all of us. We rest too hard Sundays. Instead of just relaxing a little we let everything of the week go and fall all to pieces in doing what we call recouping. It's the great American habit."

"That's the reason we have 'blue Mondays.' Some day, I suppose, we'll learn how to rest up over Sunday without completely disorganizing our work for Monday. If we don't I think it would be a good idea to cut Monday out of the business week and begin on Tuesday."—New York World.

Lucky.
"Of course, like most of your class," remarked the cynical cad, "you are superstitious. No doubt you consider the horseshoe a sign of good luck."
"It is," replied the sporting gent, "if it goes under the wire first on your horse."—Philadelphia Press.

AMUSEMENTS

"Dora Thorne," a dramatization of Bertha M. Clay's famous novel, will be the attraction at the Brainerd Opera House on Wednesday, Sept. 12th. The piece has been declared a drama of more than usual effectiveness and power, and is said to surpass anything Rowland & Clifford have as yet achieved.

Dora Thorne

ed. "Dora Thorne" is justly entitled to rank as one of the season's popular successes. It will be seen with an excellent cast and scenic environments. This is one of the ten attractions exploited by Rowland & Clifford and like their other attractions is beautifully mounted throughout. The part of Dora Thorne, in the hands of Miss Maud Brandon, is attracting much favorable comment.

READING THE TREE.

How the Forester Gets His Life History in Detail.

The forester reads the history of a tree in great detail, says the American Magazine. After taking out a few "borings" to the center of the tree at different heights and counting the rings on them he may spin you such a yarn as this:

"This tree is 150 years old (150 rings at the base). During the first five years it grew only seven inches (145 rings, seven inches from the base). Evidently it then began to touch crowns with other saplings, for it took a spurt and put on fifteen inches a year steadily till it was forty years old (forty rings forty-four and one-half feet above the ground). It was not growing as fast as its neighbors, however, for at this point it began to be overshadowed, and its growth declined for the next ten years to as little as four inches a year (forty-five rings at forty-eight feet and fifty at fifty feet). Just in time to save its life something happened to its big neighbors, presumably a windstorm, and it resumed a steady growth of about six inches a year, having passed its fastest growing time. Its growth in thickness doesn't seem to have varied much, about an inch every three years. But it grew faster and faster in volume, of course, as its height increased—a little over a cubic foot a year in its prime of life, I should judge. About thirty years ago it reached maturity and stopped growing in height (thirty rings at the top of the main stem), and now it is approaching old age (the last rings are pretty thin). Hold on a minute—here's a false ring, twenty, forty, forty-six years back; two very thin rings—see—instead of one thick one; means that something interrupted the growing season, probably a late frost."

The Drug Clerk.

In the old days the drug clerk spent his spare moments in pounding leaves and barks for the production of tinctures and extracts that are now supplied by wholesale manufacturers. When he had nothing else to do he made ointment and rolled pills. The mortar and pestle were the universal sign of the trade. But the diverse modern activities of the pharmacist more than compensate for the earlier details of toil. It is still a time honored practical test to ask the apprentice to powder ten pounds of camphor in a mortar. After sweating at his task for an hour or two he learns that camphor won't powder, though it is readily soluble in alcohol.—New York Tribune.

FROM THE STATE CAPITAL

The annual meeting of the Grand Army has distracted political work somewhat this week, aside from that of those who are especially engaged in the work, like the state committee. They keep resolutely at their posts because there is no moment for relaxation.

The letter which Mr. Blakely of the Rochester Post addressed to the railroad commission asking what Governor Johnson had done to secure any reduction in railroad rates or to prevent discrimination, and the reply of the railroad commission, have proven a veritable bombshell in the Democratic camp. Governor Johnson is a smooth political article and by his speeches and interviews he has actually created the impression that he has been endeavoring to do something to relieve the people from burdensome railroad charges. He evidently thought all that was necessary was to create the impression that he was doing something. All this now passes for nothing and the mask is stripped off from Governor Johnson by the correspondence. This one circumstance ought to lead enough Republicans who strayed away two years ago to realize the mistake they made to change the result this fall, for it shows that Governor Johnson has made no attempt whatever to secure any relief from excessive railroad rates or discrimination.

Next week the campaign will be formally opened by Mr. Cole at Cass Lake, his home county. His opening speech will have no doubtful or uncertain sound and from the time it is uttered the campaign will be on. The Republican state central committee, too, will meet next week to take further aggressive steps in pushing the work. A goodly number of the committee have visited headquarters this week and all agree in bringing the most favorable reports from their respective localities.

No political campaign can be conducted without considerable money for legitimate expenses. The Republican state committee has decided to make an effort to secure a popular subscription to carry on the great work they have in hand. This is unquestionably the way to conduct a political campaign. Of course, every one understands that it has been the custom to secure large contributions from corporations and parties who, if they have not already, are almost sure to have large interests which, in return for their contributions, they expect the political party to which they contribute will protect and assist. The present Republican state committee do not wish to involve themselves in any such entangling alliances and they very wisely decided to try the experiment of conducting a campaign for the people direct from the people and their experiment will be watched with a great deal of interest. It is really a new method of conducting a political canvass and it is a method of such merit that it certainly ought to prove a great success. Small contributions from a large number of people place the committee and the party under no other obligation than to look after the general interest of the people and why should not the people, if they wish their interests, national and political, to be cared for, make their contributions to secure this result.

The expenses of printing, correspondence, clerical assistance, speakers, public meetings, etc., involve in the aggregate a large sum and they are certainly perfectly legitimate expenses. It would not be natural to expect that individuals or corporations would contribute thousands of dollars to pay these expenses unless they did so with the feeling that they had some claim for a substantial return either in the way of new legislation or in neglecting to enforce present legislation which they might consider onerous. It was a good plan to put the people to the test and marks a new era in politics, which should be established as the successful and the only way to properly conduct a political campaign. If Minnesota succeeds in this movement it will establish a precedent for the whole United States and will carry with it a relief from obligations which have heretofore been imposed upon political parties which carries with it expectations and a right to demand protection which is good for the "interests" and detrimental to the people.

While the Democrats will not be in armor array until Sept. 4, when their state convention meets, they have in reality already begun their campaign for the head of their ticket. There is, of course, no talk of anything else but the renomination of Governor Johnson and the rest of the ticket will be a mere collection of figure heads. It is highly complimentary to a lot of men to put them on the ticket with certain defeat secured in advance and only the petty temporary notoriety and a campaign assessment in store for them.

When the Duluth convention selected Albert L. Cole as the standard bearer the Democrats thought to slur him by saying "Who is Cole?" They have found out that he is a vote getter and they are no longer asking that question. They know that no railroad commission will ever have to say of him, as they do of Governor Johnson, that he has never asked them when governor to regulate and reduce railroad rates and discriminations.

THE SURGEON'S TOOLS

AS FEW AS POSSIBLE USED BY THE MODERN PRACTITIONER.

To Remove an Appendix. For instance, He Can Carry Everything Necessary In One of His Pockets. Hand Forged Instruments the Best.

"A surgeon, used to carry a bag of instruments weighing often as much as twenty-five pounds when he was called to operate," said a member of the staff of the New York Postgraduate Medical School and Hospital the other day. "Today an average operation, such as the removal of an appendix, calls for no more instruments than can be carried in the pockets."

"I have just come," continued the doctor, "from removing an appendix, and here in this small package are all the instruments I used—a scissors, two artery clamps, two forceps and a needle. Many operations, of course—gastro-enteric, gynecological and those that have to do with bones—require more instruments, but modern science demands the use of as few as possible in order that time may be saved. Skill and haste are prime factors in an operation. In the old days, before anesthesia was known, this was to shorten the patient's agony as much as possible. After ether was discovered surgeons for awhile operated more leisurely, but soon finding out that the shock to the patient remaining under ether so long was always dangerous and often fatal they again recognized the importance of swiftness. Diminishing the number of instruments was one of the methods for saving time. In the operating room in the old days there was always, no matter what the operation, a good sized table laid out with ten or fifteen scores of instruments, fifty artery clamps, scissors, forceps and lancets by the dozen. It used to take over an hour to remove an appendix; today the average is about twelve minutes."

"The variety of instruments increases every year as surgeons meet with new needs or solve old problems. In our school here, as in others, many instruments have been devised. Especially to those having to do with the eye, ear, nose and throat have we made valuable additions as well as in the field of orthopedic appliances. The Hippocratic oath precludes the patenting of any such inventions; consequently all instruments are free to be made by all and every surgical manufacturer."

The making of surgical instruments in the United States is nearly contemporaneous with the beginning of the republic, and one or two of the prominent firms today date from long before the civil war. In no country are finer instruments made than in the United States. Though the number of men employed is small, every man is a skilled laborer and an artist, with an aptitude often as fine as that of a journeyman jeweler, capable of making even the most delicate of the great variety of instruments, amounting to about 10,000, which a surgical house must keep in stock or be ready to produce upon order.

Cast and drop forged instruments have no lasting value, and once the edge is worn off they can never be satisfactorily resharpened. The process which they undergo demands that they be brought three times to a white heat. The first time the steel becomes tempered; the second and third time it becomes decarbonized and loses its temper, the result being an instrument with a shell of hard steel, capable of taking a fair edge, but beneath which the metal is soft and unfit to stand honing.

"All good instruments are hand forged. Thus prices are doubled and trebled over the prices of cast instruments because of the skilled labor and time necessary to their construction. The workman in a careful factory must make a study of his work and learn the physical qualities of the steel or metal he works with, its strength and cutting and tension qualities. General operating instruments are made of steel, silver, platinum, gold and aluminum. German steel, owing to its tenacity, is used for forceps and blunt instruments; English cast steel for edged tools, as it receives a high temper, a fine polish and retains its edge. Silver when pure is very flexible and is useful for catheters, which require frequent change of curve. When mixed with other metals, as coin silver, it makes firm catheters, caustic holders and cannulated work. Seamless silver instruments are least liable to corrode. Platinum resists the action of acids and ordinary heat and is useful for caustic holders, actual cauteries and the electrodes of the galvanic cautery. Gold, owing to its ductility, is adapted for fine tubes, such as eye syringes and so forth, while aluminum is by its extreme lightness suitable for probes, styles and tracheotomy tubes.

"Handles are made of ebony, ivory, pearl or hard rubber. Ebony and rubber are used for large instruments, though these at times have handles of steel. Ivory makes a durable and beautiful handle, though it and ebony are not entirely aseptic, because it is impossible to boil them for the purpose of sterilization without their cracking. Ivory and pearl are used for scalpels and for small instruments like those used in operating on the eye. On the whole, the best material for handles is hard rubber, since it may be vulcanized on the instrument, thus making it practically one piece, with no possible seam for the lodging of germs and hence perfectly safe.

"Next to the materials the mode of making determines the instrument's quality. Steel overheated in the forge is brittle or rotten. In shaping with the file the form may be destroyed. In hardening and tempering the steel may be spoiled. In every stage the value of the instrument depends upon the skill applied."—New York Post.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.
